

UNT BRIDGE

Course Building Checklist:

UNT Bridge Courses allow authors to provide learners with training and educational resources. To ensure that courses meet guidelines and requirements, we have created this checklist to assist authors with constructing courses in UNT Bridge.

While your course is in Development:

Your course needs to have “TEST” at the beginning of your title (this will be removed before publication)

For your course to be published, the following criteria must be met:

The course must have a course description

The course must have a cover slide containing the course title and course description

Alternative text (alt text) must be entered for all photos and figures

All videos containing audio must be captioned

Once your course is complete, submit a course publication form
